

Cheer Wilson As He Braves Illness To Ride In Procession

Reverence at Funeral Procession Gives Way to Acclaim for War Leader

FIGHTS BACK HIS TEARS

Former President, Old and Bowed, Stands First Public Appearance Well

By A. L. Bradford

Washington—A thunderous ovation from tens of thousands of spectators greeted Woodrow Wilson, America's war president, as he rode along the historic Pennsylvania avenue Friday behind the body of the unknown American dead.

The reverent silence that marked the slow procession of the flag draped casket gave way to a tremendous cheering as the Wilson carriage rolled by.

Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, arrived at the capitol ten minutes late. Their carriage was scheduled to follow close behind the casket, but Wilson waived aside the offer to put him in the designated place.

"Anywhere will do," he said.

The Wilsons dropped in at the very end of the procession—behind the section of World War veterans wearing mourning bands on their uniform sleeves.

Cheering Is Thunderous

But as the old victor pulled slowly up at the last part of the funeral parade, the concourse of men, women and children broke forth in thunderous cheering.

Wilson looked his gratitude. He lifted his high silk hat and slowly waived to the crowd. His wrinkles and drawn face worked with emotion as the former president struggled to keep back the tears that were welling to his eyes. Mrs. Wilson too, was grateful. She waited kisses to the crowd. She seemed to think this acclaim of the grateful people would do her husband a world of good.

Wilson was the only man cheered. Old and bowed, stricken in health, this man of iron will who once had kept the nation out of war, then plunged it in, and afterward took the leadership in obtaining its close.

Wanted to Take Part

He had looked forward to this day, wanting to be a part of the impressive spectacle in whose progress he had so vital a role. His physician, Admiral Clegg, granted his wish, saying his health would stand the strain of riding in a carriage.

Wilson was garbed in morning clothes and wore a high silk hat. Despite his continued illness, Wilson looked in better health and spirits than eight months ago when he left the White house, a crushed man, disappointed in his hopes for signing the Versailles treaty with the League of Nations.

When the Wilson carriage drove slowly past the White house, the doubled cheering and handclapping broke out. President and Mrs. Harding were standing at the gate, reviewing the balance of the parade, before continuing the journey.

Wilson, catching sight of the Hardings, raised his hat and bowed and smiled to them.

At this point the Wilson carriage drove out of the line and moved off toward the Wilson home. A mighty parting cheer went up from the crowd.

Upon arrival at his home former president Wilson said he would not go to the Arlington ceremony. When the demonstration accorded him along the line of march was mentioned he said:

"Yes, I was embarrassed, that there should be applause at so solemn an occasion."

Death Takes Noted Breeder Of Holsteins

Fond du Lac.—Willis J. Gillet, aged 57, nationally known as a breeder of fine Holstein-Friesian cattle, died at his home near Rosendale Friday after an illness of but a few days. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Gillet served two years as president of the Wisconsin State Dairymen's Association, and also as president of the Wisconsin State Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association.

Mr. Gillet owned one of the finest herds of registered stock in America and developed the world's greatest cow, Colantha Fourth's Johanna, the only animal that ever held all the world records for production at one time.

Arlington National Cemetery—America's nameless hero is at rest.

The last sad rights are done. The homage, unknown to emperors dead, is ended. The sorrowing multitude has turned back to the city. The unknown soldier is left to sleep out time in the bosom of Virginia's hills.

In the marble sarcophagus before the great white amphitheatre at Arlington, the hallowed body that symbolizes the war spirit of America was laid to rest by the bravest of his comrades.

His head rests upon the soil of France, stained with his life's blood, which had been scattered beneath the simple black casket shrouded in the flag for which he died.

Throughout the day, the unknown had been accorded the highest tributes of the nation and the world.

Guns Sound Salute

The roar of mighty guns echoed the national salute through the Virginia hills. It was a message heard 'round the world—America's heroic dead sleeps at home at last.

As the silvery bugle sobbed out "taps" the great multitude in the amphitheatre stood uncovered in mute farewell. This last earthly chapter of the great war, fought and won by such as the sacred ashes represents, was written.

Out from the group surrounding the sarcophagus then stepped a giant figure in soldier uniform and overseas cap—Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, to lay tenderly on the tomb a wreath—the symbol of the "Falsify" of every one of the unknown's buddies.

Mothers Bestow Wreaths

More touching still was the bestowal of wreaths by the American and British war mothers.

Proudly but tearfully, these representatives of thousands of women who had lost their lads in the war laid with tender hands a heartfelt token on the tomb.

Mrs. R. Emmett Disney represented America; Mrs. Julia McCudden, Great Britain.

The body then was lowered into the grave.

Thousands of the "unknown's" folks jammed around the big amphitheatre, unable to obtain the coveted seats within the enclosure. For a mile in all directions, the roads were crowded with people straining to gain entrance to the cemetery to pay a final tribute.

He was honored and wept for by thousands. The president of the United States, its leading officials, distinguished foreign diplomats and military men vied with the humbler of the earth to bid him a fitting adieu.

Nation Shows Grief

Touching invocations and prayers, moments of silence at noon, bestowal of foreign service medals on his grave, the deep throated multitude singing America, and "O, God Our Help in Ages Past"—scripture reading, a speech by President Harding, taps to bid the unknown rest—these were the outward marks of a nation's grief and a nation's respect for the valor of one of its brave.

The unknown's Mer, a raised platform of black was flanked with a helmet, a palm wreath American shield, and with a figure of Liberty, the gift of the president of China.

Below in a crypt were stored floral tributes of surpassing beauty—a set piece of the British government bearing doves of peace and a placard "With the Sympathy of the British People."

A wreath of deep red roses was there from President and Mrs. Harding and another from the national war mothers.

Secretary of War Weeks, in a brief speech, introduced President Harding.

Just as the president arose the sun burst through the clouds and mist, shedding a sheen of silver on the wreaths hanging along the walls like trophies in an ancient temple.

Harding spoke restrainedly, a touch of emotion seeming to halt his delivery.

Confers Medals

With the president's address finished a quartet from the Metropolitan Opera company, New York, sang "The Supreme Sacrifice." Medals—the richest gifts this government and foreign powers could bestow on a soldier—were then pinned upon the unknown's casket.

With the president Harding took the lead, saying a few words as he decorated the casket with the congressional medal of honor, "in the name of congress and the people of the United States."

Red Cross Roll Call Gets Started Today

LEAGUE WELCOMES HARDING'S PLAN TO CUT ARMAMENT

Move Could Not Be Taken up
Otherwise Because Three
Big Powers Were Missing

By David Lawrence

(Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.)

Washington.—The principles adopted and the agreements made at President Harding's conference on the limitation of armaments may be applied to all the other nations of the globe through the medium of the League of Nations.

A point of contact between the league which has more than 40 nations within its jurisdiction and the conference of principal allied and associated powers called by Mr. Harding has been established informally. Rene Viviani, former premier of France, and member of the French delegation to the Washington conference, has brought with him the reports and conclusions reached by the commission on armament appointed by the League of Nations and of which he is chairman.

Far from regarding Mr. Harding's project as a rival affair, the league formally expresses its approval of the initiative of the president of the United States and promises him cooperation.

"Next in importance to the disarmament of Germany," says the league's formal report, "comes the proposal of President Harding that a conference should meet at Washington to discuss disarmament and the settlement of the political problems of the Pacific. The League of Nations which exists for the purpose of securing international concord naturally welcomes with great satisfaction the initiative of President Harding."

"When the covenant of the League was framed it contemplated a situation in which all nations were members of a single league and bound to one another by the common purpose of maintaining peace throughout the globe."

"Three great powers, one of them actually and other potentially, of immense military importance, stand outside the league, and so long as the United States, Germany and Russia do not participate in our society, great difficulties confront the common adoption by its members of a plan for the systematic and progressive reduction of armaments or for a full, frank and unreserved communication of military information."

Annual Campaign to Enlist Every Person in Outagamie County in Work of Rehabilitation Starts on Armistice Day.

While thousands of Outagamie county men and women today were recalling the stirring hours of three years ago when word was flashed across the country that the war had ended and the dove of peace again had settled on the earth, a band of loyal men and women were preparing for the start of the annual campaign to secure funds with which to repair the wreckage caused by that war. Today is the opening of the annual Red Cross Roll Call which has for its purpose the enlistment of every man, woman and child in the work of rehabilitation.

Organization of the county for the campaign has been completed by Hugh G. Corbett, who has charge of the work. Solicitation committees are expected to start today to visit every home in the county to secure memberships. At least 10,000 members are necessary if the Red Cross is to carry on the work that has been laid out for it.

While the Red Cross is not concerned entirely with repairing the ravages of war, still a large part of its work may be called the aftermath of the conflict. One of its most important duties is to secure assistance for war veterans who are entitled to compensation from the government, but who cannot obtain this help unaided.

Filing claims for former service men involves more than just sending in a request to the local United States public health service physician with the government form properly filled out. It means the securing of affidavits, sometimes from far distant points, involving an immense amount of correspondence and painstaking

Appleton Pays Solemn Tribute To War Heroes

Appleton ceased work at 11 o'clock Friday and for two minutes paid silent tribute to the Americans who three years ago fought and died on the fields of France that freedom and democracy might live.

At two minutes before the hour, bells of all the churches and the whistles of all the factories blended together in a warning to citizens that the period of meditation had arrived. It was not the mad clangor of exultation sent up by a people victorious in war on the first Armistice Day, but rather a harmonious requiem to the living and dead heroes of the nation and a melody of the saner notes of peace.

As the sounds of bells and whistles died away, a bugler at Lawrence Memorial chapel sounded the call to assembly and 1,100 persons assembled there stood in prayerful silence for two minutes. Then came the rattle of rifles as a firing squad fired three volleys—a military salute to the unknown soldier who was being buried in Arlington. This was followed by the plaintive bugle call of taps.

As the last note ceased, the One Hundred Twenty-first Artillery band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner" at the close of which the audi-

Harding's Speech At Arlington

Arlington National Cemetery—President Harding's address at the ceremonies in honor of the unknown soldier here Friday follows:

Mr. Secretary of War and Ladies and Gentlemen:

We are met today to pay the impersonal tribute. The name of him whose body lies before us took flight with his imperishable soul. He knew not whence he came, but only that his death marks him with the everlasting glory of an American dying for his country.

He might have come from any one of millions of American homes. Some mother gave him in her love and tenderness, and with him her most cherished hopes. Hundreds of mothers are wondering today, finding a touch of solace in the possibility that the nation bows in grief over the body of one she bore to live and die, if need be, for the republic. If we give rein to fancy, a score of sympathetic chords are touched for in this body there once, glowed the soul of an American, with the aspirations and ambitions of a citizen who cherished life and its opportunities. He may have been a native or an adopted son; that matters little, because they glorified the same loyalty, they sacrificed alike.

We do not know his station in life, because from every station came the patriotic response of the five millions. I recall the days of creating armies, and the departing of caravels which braved the murderous seas to reach the battle lines for maintained nationality and preserved civilization. The service flag marked mansion and cottage alike, and riches were common to all homes in the consciousness of service to country.

Know Glory Of His Dead

We do not know the emendence of his birth, but we do know the glory of his death. He died for his country and greater devotion hath no man than this. He died unquestioning and uncomplaining, with faith in his heart and hope on his lips, that his country should triumph and its civilization survive. As a typical soldier of this representative democracy, he fought and died, believing in the indisputable justice of his country's cause. Conscious of the world's upheaval, appraising the magnitude of a war the like of which had never horrified humanity before, perhaps he believed his life to be service destined to change the tide of human affairs.

This American soldier went forth to battle with no hatred for any people in the world, but hating war and hating the purpose of every war for conquest. He cherished our national rights, and abhorred the threat of armed domination; and in the mad stream of destruction and suffering, and death he fired his shot for liberation.

SATURDAY MARKS OPENING OF GREAT PARLEY FOR PEACE

World Representatives Will Sit
About Horseshoe Table to Talk Disarmament

Washington.—The great arms parley awaits the stroke of Secretary of State Hughes' gavel in Continental Memorial hall at 10:30 o'clock Saturday.

The opening program was completed Friday and everything in the big hall is ready for the ushering in of the greatest international gathering in history.

Friday the delegates are paying the highest honors to America's unknown soldier. All are seated on the balcony of the great white marble amphitheatre at Arlington.

On a big green carpet, in the arms conference hall rests the great horseshoe table around which the representatives of the powers will discuss arms limitation. On three sides, the delegates will be surrounded by about 300 representatives of the press.

The conference will be opened by prayer, Rev. W. S. Abernethy, pastor of President Harding's church here, delivering the invocation.

The president will then address the conference, but no reply will be made at that time, the foreign delegations have decided.

Formal organization of the conference will follow with the probable election of Hughes as chairman. The presiding officer chosen then will address the conference, after which adjournment will be taken until next Tuesday.

The actual work of the conference will start then.

MRS. SWENSON IS DEAD OF INJURIES IN RAIL ACCIDENT

Ford Coupe Is Struck by Train at Drew-st. Crossing—
Dr. Swenson Hurt

Mrs. James Swenson, wife of Dr. Swenson, died at 1 o'clock this afternoon in St. Elizabeth hospital from injuries received when a Ford coupe in which she was riding with her husband was struck by a southbound Chicago and Northwestern train at the Drew-st. crossing at 9:30 Thursday night.

Dr. and Mrs. Swenson were driving north and did not hear nor see the approaching train at the "blind" crossing. The car was struck in the rear and Mrs. Swenson was hurled more than ten yards. She was unconscious when picked up by the police who responded with the ambulance to the call. Her head was cut, one arm was broken and she suffered internal injuries.

Little hope was entertained for her recovery during the night and this morning. An operation was performed early today in an effort to save her life.

Dr. Swenson was cut about the head but otherwise uninjured. When found by police immediately after the accident he was wandering about in a dazed condition and could not give a coherent account of the accident.

Dr. Swenson is associated with Dr. V. F. Marshall here.

Funeral services for Mrs. Swenson will be held at 1:30 Sunday morning at All Saints church. The body will be taken to Antigo for burial.

KILLS BROTHER AS HE CLEANED GUN

Milwaukee.—One boy is dead and his brother is being held at the detention home as the result of an accidental shooting here Thursday night.

Geo. Nowak, 2, was almost instantly killed when a bullet from a revolver, said by police to have been held by his brother Edward, 15, pierced his heart.

The older boy told the police he was cleaning the gun which was accidentally discharged when his finger caught hold of the trigger.

An accident to the printing press delayed delivery of Thursday night's Post-Crescent to about half of the subscribers in Appleton. About half of the papers had been repaired when the press broke and repairs were not completed until nearly 9 o'clock when the remainder of the papers were delivered.

WORLD PRAYS FOR PEACE

A Civilization That Uses War
for Arbitration is Failure,
President Says

By Raymond Clapper

Amphitheatre, Arlington National Cemetery—The commanding voice of the world was summoned to a crusade against armed warfare by President Harding as he stood at the bier of America's unknown dead Friday.

"His sacrifice and that of the millions dead, shall not be in vain," the president promised in a solemn vow that rang out over the silent mourners in the vast amphitheatre.

"There must be—there shall be—the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare."

President Harding addressed his measured words directly at the disarmament delegates who sat grouped in front of him. His declaration, uttered on the eve of the great conference that meets Saturday, earned significance.

Then with tender tribute, he swung into the climax of his oration.

"As we return this poor clay to its mother soil, garlanded by love and covered with the decorations that only nations can bestow, I can sense the prayers of our people, of all peoples, that this Armistice day shall mark the beginning of a new and lasting era of peace on earth, good will among men."

Bending reverently over the casket the president, with the vast audience joining softly, offered up the Lord's prayer as he closed his address.

"I speak not as a pacifist fearing war, but as one who loves justice and hates war," Harding declared in voicing his resolution that civilization must make a supreme effort to end war for all time.

"Let us give of our influence and strength, yea, of our aspirations and convictions, to put mankind on a little higher plane, exulting and exalting, with war's distressing and depressing tragedies barred from the stage of righteous civilization," he pleaded.

With vivid strokes, Harding painted the spectacular run of death he witnessed during a modern battle demonstration at Camp Ebbing, Georgia, recently when the earth trembled as big guns sent shells shrieking over his head and tracer bullets flew past in deadly concentration.

"As this panorama of unutterable destruction visualized the horrors of modern conflict, there grew on me the sense of the failure of a civilization which can leave its problems such cruel arbitrament," he continued. "Surely no one in authority, with human attributes and a full appraisal of the patriotic loyalty of his countrymen, could ask the manhood of kingdom, empire or republic to make such a sacrifice until all reason had failed, until appeal to justice through understanding had been denied, until every effort of love and consideration for fellowmen had been exhausted, until freedom itself and inviolate honor had been threatened."

Passages of melting tenderness for the unknown dead that moved many in the audience to tears were woven into President Harding's attack on the God of War.

"We gather him to the nation's breast," he said simply, "within the shadow of the capitol, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the republic worthy of his death for flag and country."

Simple Rites Mark Burial Of Jap Leader

Morioka, Japan.—Public funeral services for the late Premier Hara of Japan, who was stabbed to death a week ago, were held here Friday.

The ceremonies were simple but impressive.

Despite a constant rainfall Japanese leaders walked in the funeral cortege. Scores sent wreaths and messages. The emperor sent formal condolences as did the opposition organs.

'Bluebeard' Lured Widow Trough Advertisement

Versailles, France.—The murder trial of "Bluebeard" Landru entered the third of its ten phases Friday when the prosecution took up the mysterious disappearance of Madame Guillot.

According to the indictment, Mme. Guillot was the third of ten women to meet death at Landru's hands.

The defendant readily admitted he had met the widow through a matrimonial advertisement, persisting in his declaration—as he had in the case of Madame Cruchet and Madame La Bordelaine—that he hoped thus to purchase her furniture at a better price than by merely representing himself as a dealer.

"Did your relations continue purely commercial?" asked Judge Gilbert.

"Absolutely," Landru responded. Evidence was introduced to show that Madame Guillot went to live with Landru at the villa in Vernouillet alleged to have been purchased for him by Madame Cruchet. Shortly afterward, Mme. Guillot disappeared and Landru sold her securities and furniture.

The judge brought out that Mme. Guillot found a number of women's garments in the villa and that Landru told her they belonged to his dead mother.

"I must warn you gentlemen that I have sometimes become history," Landru declared with an aggrieved air turning to the jury. "That is true throughout this unfortunate case."

Grads Flocking Back To Lawrence To Take Part In Homecoming

Parades of All Kinds Will Be Among Features of Biggest Weekend in History of School
—Banquet Saturday Night.

The "old grads" are back, many of them and others are arriving on every train to be ready to begin the festivities at the mass meeting in Main hall at 7 o'clock Friday evening. Estimates from the homecoming committee and from the fraternities and sororities at the college indicate that more than 500, hundred former Lawrence students will be in attendance for the greatest weekend in the history of Lawrence.

The program shows that parades will be a feature of the activities and that the Lawrence people will spend a good share of their time "parading around" the town and the campus. Immediately after the mass meeting on Friday evening, there will be a torch light procession through the downtown district. Prominent football men from many of the classes will speak at the mass meeting which is warranted to provide enough spirit to back any team to victory and especially the fighting team from the Alma Mater.

Alumni Register
Headquarters for the alumni have been established in the Lawrentian office now located to the west of the north entrance of Main Hall. Homecoming buttons will be available at headquarters where every visitor is expected to register. "Rip Up Rip On" badges as well as blue and white decorations of all kinds are being urged by the committee to make the occasion as festive as possible.

One of the most impressive features of the decoration of the Lawrence buildings is the illumination of the silver dome on Main hall. The silver dome is very dear to the hearts of all Lawrentians since it typifies the college buildings and campus memories as no other one thing at the college does. Dormitories and fraternity houses were being decorated immediately after the Armistice service Friday afternoon. Silver loving cups will be awarded to the clearest dormitory and house. Mayor J. A. Hawes, Mrs. D. O. Kinsman and Hugh Corbett will be the committee to judge the decorations on the campus as well as for the best window trimming in the business places. The Lawrentian has donated a half page of advertising space free to the merchant whose window is judged to be the best.

Russell Sage dormitory and Ormsby hall are holding open house during the entire weekend, but special receptions will be held immediately after the game on Saturday. Greek letter organization are also planning special entertainments for their number.

A parade of floats prepared by Greek Letter organizations and clubs in the college as well as friends of the college will take place at 10:30 Saturday morning and will go to the Northwestern depot to meet the Ripon delegation. Another parade will be held a 1:30 which will terminate at Lawrence field for the Ripon game.

At the banquet in Armory G. at 6:30, Col. F. J. Schneller of Neenah will be the principal speaker, on the program which is made up of five minute addresses. Miss Margaret Luce, Appleton; Captain "Bill" Smith, Wisconsin Rapids; Coach H. D. Chesney and Keevil Larson, Neenah, will be the other speakers. Each class will have a table for its own members.

The following is the program for the weekend:

Friday, November 11.
7:00—Mass Meeting in Main Hall.
8:00—Torch Light Parade.
Saturday, November 12
9:00—Registration of Alumni in Lawrentian Room.
10:30—Parade to Meet the Ripon Special.
1:30—Parade to Lawrence Field.
2:30—Kick-off — Lawrence-Ripon Football Game.
5:00—Open House at Russell Sage and Ormsby.
Receptions at Fraternity Houses.
6:30—Homecoming Banquet at Armory.
Bonfire (?)
Sunday, November 13
Fraternity and Sorority Reunions.

Edward Voight, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Voigt, 730 Harris-st. returned Friday from Madison where he is attending the university, to attend the Lawrence homecoming celebration.

VALUE AND YIELD OF CROPS LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

Corn Crop is Largest in History But Low Price Will Make Value Short

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The value of all American crops on November 11 is 39.6 per cent lower than a year ago, and 45.5 per cent lower than the average of the preceding five years.

The department of agriculture announced Wednesday. The production of about 20 per cent lower than last year's aggregate and 11.3 per cent lower than the average of the preceding five years, 1915-1920. The corn crop this year is one of the largest in history, but low prices will cause its value to shrink greatly. The corn crop was estimated at 151,698,000 bushels by the department of agriculture as compared with 232,267,000 bushels last year. This compares to 2,797,625,000 bushels for the five year average between 1915 and 1920. The yield per acre this year was estimated at 23.9 bushels. The white potato crop, was estimated at 356,076,000 bushels as against 428,363,000 bushels last year. The yield per acre this year was estimated at $9.6 bushels. Sweet potatoes total 105,841,000 bushels this year as against 12,368,000 last year. The yield per acre this year was $9.2 bushels.

The younger boys still have a stamp exchange period when stamp collectors will have an opportunity to trade stamps.

Appleton Pays Solemn Tribute To War Heroes

At the Armistice Day program directed by Onay Johnston post of the American legion at Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday forenoon, 1,100 Appleton people endorsed the following resolutions asking for reduction of armaments:

"We, the people of Appleton in mass meeting assembled on Armistice Day, unite to honor our soldiers and sailors, living and dead, who served in the World War. They fought to protect our country, to bring freedom to all nations and to deliver the world forever from the scourge of war. We honor them most by here dedicating ourselves to their unfinished work."

The following resolution was passed and a copy of it was ordered to be sent to President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes, each of America's delegates to the International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments, to the secretary of the delegation of each foreign nation invited to participate in the Conference, to both of Wisconsin's senators and to David Classon, the representative of this congressional district.

"We, the people of the city of Appleton, Wisconsin, in mass meeting gathered on Armistice Day, standing behind our public servants in Washington—demand that the international Conference today assembling shall not adjourn until it has effected a sweeping reduction of armaments, as a first step toward universal peace."

At the union religious service held in the Memorial Chapel, previous to the citizens' mass meeting there was passed the first resolution given above and also the following resolution:

"We, the Christian citizens of Appleton, Wisconsin, gathered to pray for world peace on Armistice Day, in a union meeting of eight of our churches, respectfully urge upon our official representatives in Washington that they do all in their power to bring it to pass that the international Conference today assembling, shall not adjourn until it has effected a sweeping reduction of armaments, as a first step toward universal peace."

Endorsed by Authorities

The Encyclopedia Britannica, Ninth Edition, on page 527 says:

"According to French official reports, artificial butter goes much further as food than the genuine article, and forms a perfectly wholesome dietetic material. There can be no doubt that a pure, sweet fat, such as is manufactured by the process of M. Mege-Mouries, is a safer and more wholesome article than the unsavory rancid butter which is sold so freely among the poorer classes."

The Margarine mentioned as being so worthy by the standard of all authorities, the Encyclopedia, was discovered in 1871. For forty years The John F. Jelke Company has been improving this Margarine—GOOD LUCK is today, as it has been for two generations, the preferred "spread" of millions of housewives.

A large percentage of GOOD LUCK is creamy pasteurized milk. The other important ingredient is the sweet, nutritious elements from selected beef fat.

THE SUPREME TEST

The last shot of the World war was fired three years ago today.

The third anniversary of Armistice Day is celebrated. The unknown soldier, symbolic of a host of others, is buried at Arlington cemetery. A meeting of representatives of the great powers, called to limit armaments and head off a "next war," begins in Washington.

This conference is the really important thing. The war is gone—its physical and soul anguish passing into the mists of history, though its scars on the human race will not be effaced for centuries.

A peculiar defect of man's brain is that it is so easy to forget. Every person in the world should refresh his memory and write in his brain with indelible pencil these two facts:

FIRST: The most authoritative statistics on the World war show that about 40,000,000 men were killed in battle. Other millions perished through the indirect causes of the conflict.

SECOND: The war's actual cost to all participating nations, as compiled by Prof. Bogart of the University of Illinois, totaled $186,000,000,000.

With these monumental facts fresh before the eyes, it is a deplorable reflection on so-called human intelligence that it is even necessary to call a disarmament conference.

If the conference fails, the World War—so far as this generation and the next are concerned—was fought in vain.

Can it be possible that after that soul-searching experience we are to continue in the path that will surely bring another terrible war.

ARE WE EVADING OUR MOST SERIOUS PROBLEM?

The Federal Trade commission recently reported that there are nearly two hundred commercial associations in the United States which secretly exchange price information. Credible exposures in the principle cities revealed this year criminal conspiracies in the building industry derogatory to the public welfare. An agricultural bloc has been maneuvering congressional legislation for the special profit of farmers as a class. Salaried agents of industrial interests are scheming to secure taxation and tariff concessions for the particular profit of their employers. Instead of striving to eradicate the abuse of power in organized labor, capital groups are trying to destroy collective bargaining.

Is it wise to draw attention to these detrimental anomalies in our economic drift? Will it or will it not be easier for us to solve the complex problems of modern industry by recognizing them frankly and studying and discussing them impartially? That there has been a paternalistic system in North America, for instance, is not due to general preference for the radical, but must be the consequence of dissatisfaction with a real or imagined wrong. There must be a reason why the women of Montana require that a household labor-saving device should be sought whenever new farm machinery is acquired. Though most social revolutions begin at the bottom, the initial causes are, as a rule, at the top and almost invariably these causes are economic.

The farmer's sternest difficulty is to market his crops advantageously. The manufacturer's is to control his production and expenses. The workman's is to earn more than a living wage in steady employment and under agreeable working conditions. The public's is to curtail the accumulation of great fortunes without disturbing the law of the right to own surplus property, and to bring about a wider distribution of wealth.

Is it not probable that we are stressing the objectives too much and ignoring the causes of contention, selfishness and dissatisfaction? We seem to be afraid to go into the serious problems but tolerate abuses and temporize with wrongs. Strife, mistrust and evasion encourage selfishness. Unbiased investigation of causes and application of just remedies will settle these perplexing problems whose principles really are simple.

THE ORIGINAL HUMAN CAUSE

Do you want to do something, at a very small cost, to provide expert medical assistance for disabled war veterans? If you do, go down in your pocket for $1, and renew your membership in the American Red Cross.

The annual Red Cross roll call begins today. It ends Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24. There is no way in which you can spend a dollar more wisely. The Red Cross gets at least 200 cents out of every dollar.

For the current fiscal year, the American Red Cross needs nationally $19,361,657. This is $5,000,000 less than it spent last year, which demonstrates the efficient management of Red Cross funds. Your dollar, given to the Red Cross, is certain to prevent suffering and provide comfort for some disabled war veteran. It will also help in child welfare work, and for relief in great disasters such as famines, floods and plagues.

The Red Cross Roll call, starting the same day as the disarmament conference, is a conference to disarm disease and suffering. One dollar makes you a delegate. It is the original human cause.

THE UNEXPECTED

Menotti Nanni, Chicago inventor, devised a "waterproof" safe. To show his supreme confidence in his handiwork, he allowed himself to be locked in the safe and lowered to the bottom of the harbor at Baltimore.

When they pulled him up, there was two feet of water in the safe and Menotti had had a good square look at the Great Divide.

The platitudes writers, it seems, are not always right. Self-confidence is powerful, but it has limitations. The elephant has great confidence in himself, but he always tests a bridge with his fore-foot before stepping on it.

OIL PAINTING OF MR. CHAPLIN

Between Mr. Henry Ford and Mr. Charles Chaplin there is spirited publicity competition. Mr. Ford's car has been the subject of many quips, and, besides being a most useful vehicle it has rivaled Charlie Chaplin in making people laugh. Of late Mr. Chaplin has risen into Mr. Ford's class as a dispenser of wisdom and advice, and the time may not be far off when it will be difficult to tell a Chaplin from a Ford interview.

"Mr." Chaplin, as he is called in his native city of London, has gone some distance ahead of Mr. Ford. He has arranged with Sir William Orpen to have his picture painted. It will be a full length portrait of Mr. Chaplin, with creased trousers and shoes of the latest mode. The next move is up to Mr. Ford.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Daniels' Suggestion

Josephus Daniels, who as Mr. Wilson's secretary of the navy, offered a suggestion in connection with the approaching conference on armaments that is not without merit. At least it has the merit of novelty. It is that the newspaper correspondents who are assembling in Washington to report the conference organize themselves into a press conference on disarmament and Pacific problems and undertake to outline an agenda and a policy. Mr. Daniels is confident that they could complete the job long before the official word had run through the wire and the reception and the diplomatic dinners. They have the world knowledge and the brains, he asserts, to reach a conclusion with as much wisdom as Mr. Root and Mr. Balfour and the other elder statesmen.

Neither Mr. Daniels' suggestion nor his conclusions are as preposterous as they might seem at first glance. The assertion that the journalists of high and low degree who will represent the fourth estate at the conference are as fully equipped by experience, knowledge and wisdom to solve the problems awaiting solution is an assertion that is capable of proof. It is not probable that the correspondents would make a quicker job of it than the delegates. At any rate it is the correspondents who have been telling us in many languages what ought to be done, and how it ought to be done, and what the consequences will be if it is not done. This is what they will continue to do as the conference deliberates, and when it has reached a conclusion they will each and separately render a verdict as to whether the conference has been equal to its task and its opportunity. We may be certain of that. The fourth estate contributes vastly to the enjoyment of life. We could not do without it.—SIOUX CITY JOURNAL (Rep.)

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. ILLUMINATING GAS POISON

A great many house-dwelling individuals suffer from mild chronic illuminating gas poisoning thru the winter months, without apparently suspecting what is wrong with their health. It is strange how many householders will breathe the atmosphere highly polluted with illuminating gas, with its characteristic odor which assails the sense of a visitor, and yet make no move to stop the harmful leak or leaks.

Altho carbon monoxide is the chief poisonous element or ingredient in illuminating gas, it is probably not so much the carbon monoxide in the gas as it is certain other substances, such as benzene or benzol, which account for the undermining of health in chronic mild illuminating gas poisoning. Carbon monoxide is not a systematic poison like opium or arsenic; it merely asphyxiates by crowding out necessary oxygen from the hemoglobin in the blood, the hemoglobin being the oxygen-carrier of the body. Flies and other insects which have no hemoglobin are immune to carbon monoxide; canaries and other birds are so susceptible that they are used as indicators in mines. But illuminating gas poisons flies that are not injured by carbon monoxide, and it is the benzol that does the business. This benzol in illuminating gas is added by carburetors with petroleum gas, and the blood corpuscles and hemoglobin destructively, much the same as the pain-killer or fatigue-killer or sense-numbing coal tar derivatives, acetanilide, phenacetin, aspirin and the like act. A very common cause of anemia and a train of symptoms which are misinterpreted by the victims and for the relief of which all sorts of useless or harmful nostrums are vainly employed.

All gas pipes in dwellings and shops where gas is used should be carefully tested for leaks at least once a year, but not with matches. The test should be made with a pressure gauge. Small leaks from loose stopcocks, from flexible tubing on stoves, lamps, pressing irons and other portable fixtures, should be stopped. When a naked gas flame or jet flares and jumps, it is not only wasting gas, but poisoning the atmosphere with unburned gas.

By the time the cold season is well along a large number of women are confined or rather who are liberally confined themselves indoors most of the time, begin to grow sallow and feel "tired out" and have dull headaches and capricious appetite and disturbed digestion and—well, consult any patent medicine circular for the rest of the symptoms. Much of this is due to mild chronic illuminating gas poisoning and much of it is due to just oxygen starvation from insufficient ventilation and open air exercise. No medicine known to man can cure it the thousand and one nostrums purport to do so. Pure air and enough outdoor exercise daily to insure the absorption of a fair ration of oxygen, does prevent and cure it.

Do you smell the gas? If you do, for health's sake, stop the leak immediately.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Need of an Orthodontist

My little girl's second teeth are coming in very crooked. Kindly let me know whether there is anything I can do for this.—(Mrs. W. D. S.)

Answer—Take her to a dentist who devotes attention to such deformities. By the use of appliances of various kinds (orthodontia) remarkable improvement in the form and regularity of teeth and jaws and face may be brought about in the course of a year or two.

Henna

I tried a foolish stunt, putting henna on my hair. Is there anything that will restore the natural color?—(E. M. M.)

Answer—Time, the great healer, will. That is, if you discontinue the stain.

Aw, Mother, Have a Heart

I am a girl 13 years old and have just entered high school. I planned on taking basketball, but my mother does not approve. Father also thinks I am too young. What do you advise? Is basketball practice good physical training for a girl of my age?—(M. S.)

Answer—It is fine training for a girl of your age, and I hope father and mother will see the like. If you were my daughter, I'd buy you a basketball and a couple peach baskets and beat you three games out every five.

Eggs and the Ootogenarian

I am a healthy man 80 years of age. Will two eggs eaten every morning be injurious to my health?—(W. R.)

Answer—I know no reason why a healthy man aged 80 shouldn't dispose of two eggs every morning, provided the eggs are authentic and of good lineage.

How to Be Firm

Please send me suggestions for increasing my weight.—(Mrs. M. M.)

Answer—Repeat your request and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope for the suggestions.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Friday, Nov. 13, 1896

A number of Appleton people attended the living "whist" entertainment at Neenah the previous evening.

A purse found by George Downer in front of Blessing's store awaited its owner at the police station.

People interested in the fate of the new reading room, now the public library, were requested to attend a meeting at the room itself Friday evening at which matters of importance were to be received attention.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens of Neenah, parents of John Stevens of Appleton, were about to start on a trip abroad which was to take them as far as Australia and India.

Mrs. Stevens of the Stevens, Candy Kitchen announced to serving of lunches consisting of homemade bread, butter, coffee, meat and vegetables noon and evening for 15 cents.

Business at the hotels was beginning to pick up since election because of the increased number of traveling men on the road.

The country roads were frozen and were covered with several inches of snow.

About thirty members of the county board drove out to the new warehouse and made a thorough inspection of it. An appropriation of $1,500 was made to the institution for equipment.

Konic Lodge, I. O. O. F., was to give its annual social and dancing party the following Tuesday. Those on the reception committee were Mayor and Mrs. Peter Thom, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hammel.

Navigation on Fox river was to formally close the day following. No boats had been operating for several days because of ice in the locks.

Miss Dolly Lewis of Neenah was a guest in the family of W. F. Montgomery.

Recruiting in the navy has been resumed, according to the signs on local billboards. Many men will be needed to dismantle the fleets after disarmament comes.—LOS ANGELES TIMES.

The Revival Of Fencing

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—Can fencing be revived in this country as a popular form of athletics? An effort to create interest in it is now being made by devotees of the sport.

When looking two at a pretty woman might mean a challenge to a duel, dexterity with a blade was a matter of life and death to any man of rank. In consequence, every gentleman studied fencing earnestly as a part of his training to grace society.

And when hand to hand encounters with swords were still a customary method of fighting battles, swordplay was an important part of a soldier's training. With these uses for sword handling, the blade, the art of fencing flourished.

Now dueling is against the law everywhere. Even in the Latin countries, where an encounter is still occasionally reported, the duelist is no longer regarded as the dashing and romantic hero he once was. It is even said that it is no heinous crime to refuse a challenge—and this means a big change in public opinion, for to refuse to fight once meant ostracism.

Modern warfare has almost banished the sword. In the few cavalry charges of modern battles, the rider swings to one side of the saddle with his head close to the horse's neck and his sword thrust ahead. If he misses one man, he rides on to the next.

There is no swordplay of defense. More often when a cavalry troop fights, it puts its horses together and attacks afoot with carbines or pistols.

Since its practical uses have been abandoned, fencing is neglected, in this country especially. Now, the international fencing match between a British team and an American team, which is to take place this month, is expected to arouse popular interest in the old sport.

This country has had flares of interest in fencing since its dueling days. In Roosevelt's administration, notably, fencing and horseback riding became the fashionable sports. The President fenced. So did his daughter, Alice, and General Leonard Wood, and so, in consequence, did the diplomat and official sets of the Capital.

Chiefly an Army Sport

Since then the fencing clubs have been maintained chiefly by officers of the Army and Navy. Fencing always attracted some college students, too. In fact, many of our swordsmen today are college-trained men. But fencing draws small crowds compared with football and tennis, and this accounts partly for the small number of swordsmen developed by the colleges. In continental Europe fencing tournaments are backed by public interest. Champions come to the place to place, as plan teams go from place to place, as in well-attended matches.

In spite of the slump in fencing in this country, we did get together enough good swordsmen to make up a team for the Antwerp Olympic Games.

The story goes that when this team won third place against the crack team of Europe, the fencing crowd, true to its place, a few must be length of the blade, a few must be to touch his mark—much more so than the pugilist who attacks at close range, with a large gloved fist. An inch off in the aim of a boxer may be immaterial. With the sword it means missing the mark entirely.

Another of our best fencers is Major Harold Rayner, personal aide to President Harding.

When the trials for the American team were held in New York, practically every good folsman in the country was on hand to compete for a place. This is regarded as proof that American interest in fencing is dead, and that it needs only such stimulus as the international matches to attract athletes and to interest the public.

The arguments in favor of fencing are that it is a fascinating indoor sport which has no equal, as a means of developing fine control of muscles, agility, and accurate judgment. With the target arms-length away, plus the length of the blade, a fencer must be to touch his mark—much more so than the pugilist who attacks at close range, with a large gloved fist. An inch off in the aim of a boxer may be immaterial. With the sword it means missing the mark entirely.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles; nor to undertake exhaustive research for any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What country has the most people to the square mile? D. T.

A. A recent compilation states that England stands first in regard to density of population, having an average of 662.2 persons to the square mile. Belgium is second with a population of 652.7 to the square mile, and the Netherlands third with 542.3. The United States in 1920 35.5 persons to the square mile.

Q. When will the next moonless month occur? H. F. D.

A. There will be no month that will be moonless, but this expression is used in speaking of a month in which there is no full moon. The Naval Observatory says that the next time that there will be such a month will be February, 1961. The last time this occurred was in February, 1855.

Q. When was the first Ford car made? D. L. S.

A. The first Ford car was Model A. which was made in 1903.

Q. Will you give me the origin of the expression to "Read the Riot Act?"

A. The use of this expression really applied to giving warning to the engaged in wrong doing, and has its origin in the Riot Act, an English statute of 1775. It provided that if 12 or more persons were assembled unlawfully and disturbing the peace, any mayor, justice of the peace, sheriff or under-sheriff could by proclamation command them to disperse. If they refused and remained together for an hour after making proclamation all of the persons participating were guilty of felony. Also anyone interfering with or preventing such proclamation was guilty of felony.

Q. Where is Cape Wrath? L. H. F.

A. Cape Wrath is at the north-west extremity of Scotland, in Sutherlandshire. It is a pyramidal promontory 22 feet in height, noted for its wildness and grandeur. A lighthouse is situated at this point.

Q. What states have adopted the American Ornithologists' Union model law for the protection of birds? C. G.

A. All states except Montana,

Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Nebraska, and Kansas have adopted this law.

Q. Were the Capulets and Montagues real people? C. F.

A. Capulet and Montague are the English forms for the names of Capellotti and Montecchi families. It has not been proved that the existence of these families, on which many stories have been built, is more than a legend.

Q. How long will bread keep? G. R.

A. The length of time that bread will keep depends upon the ingredients. The famous honeybread of Germany and France will keep a year or 18 months without drying out.

Q. When are most vegetables shipped out of Florida? F. D. O.

A. The height of the shipping season in Florida is between November 15 and July 1.

Q. Can a presiding officer vote as a member of a body and have also a casting vote? B. J. K.

A. The casting vote is the final and decisive vote which the law in some cases confers upon the presiding officer in case of a tie vote. The rules governing the particular assembly would govern the right of the officers to vote at all, or to vote only in case of a tie, or to vote as a member of the body and afterward cast a deciding vote.

Q. When was John Trumbull's picture "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence" made, and when the Durand etching? E. R. H.

A. John Trumbull was employed by Congress to paint "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence" in 1776. After H. Durand's etching of this work was made about 1825.

Q. How long before Lincoln was assassinated did Mrs. Surratt go to Washington to live? W. F. W.

A. Mrs. Surratt moved to Washington in 1862 and opened the boarding house which became the meeting place of the men who planned the assassination of President Lincoln.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

"The Best Possible Black Man"

Politically and economically, equal opportunity; socially, recognition and acceptance of a "fundamental, inescapable and eternal difference"—this is President Harding's ideal for the development of "the best possible black man."

"The color tide is rising," the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR (Boston, Ind.) declares, and the negro problem is "the most difficult situation which the country faces."

To that problem President Harding brings what the MONITOR considers a "feasible solution," which, the NEW YORK HERALD (Ind.) observes, "concerns the practical question of a way to reconcile ineradicable racial and social differences with the demands of modern democracy for political equality and industrial equality."

The way which the President points out as this paper interprets it, denotes "one path for Americans of every color to travel when they vote or study or work; separate paths, socially and racially, or absolute divergence, to the end of the trail"; and the HERALD finds this at least "a most interesting theory of reconstructed democracy."

"If there is a workable recipe for solution of the race problem," the DETROIT FREE PRESS (Ind.) believes it is to be found "in a program that will recognize the social separateness of the white and colored races—and that will at the same time provide for equality of educational and political and industrial opportunity," and "equality" as the MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) defines it, "simply means that each man shall have equal treatment before the law and equal opportunity to exert his full and free influence."

With "the bogey of social equality" disposed of, the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.) thinks "the most troublesome factor is eliminated" and "the problem resolves itself into the practical terms of capacity and ability."

However, in the opinion of a number of editors, the "bogey of social equality" has been successfully disposed of by the colored race. "Negroes do not want social equality," the BUFFALO EXPRESS (Ind. Rep.) declares, "though the white South, for purposes of its own, continues to assert that they do." The CHARLESTON (W. Va.) MAIL (Ind. Rep.) also feels certain that "the negro race as a race has not shown any desire to force itself on the white race."

But, the JOHNSTOWN DEMOCRAT (Dem.) suggests, "it is not at all likely that a race that it accorded political and economic equality will accept the status of social inferiority and the BROOKLYN EAGLE (Ind. Dem.) agrees that "in practice if any race allowed equal educational opportunity with another, and equal power in determining taxes, which everybody must pay, equal show on the economic avenues to wealth and prosperity, some individuals will arise from that race with whom no sane person will hesitate to come in social contact," and "philosophically and historically considered, the compatibility of political equality with social inequality in a self-governing democratic community is at least unproved." That separation in itself, the ROCHESTER TIMES UNION (Ind.) believes, "implies handicaps which make the full operation of the square deal fraught with immense difficulties." The YOUNGSTOWN (O.) VINDICATOR (Dem.) can draw "no other conclusion from President Harding's theory of 'inseparable and eternal difference' than a declaration in effect that 'black and white are not equal and never can be,' and the NEWARK NEWS (Ind.) thinks that the President "clearly and unmistakably showed that he expected the negro through the long years to continue to bear the stamp of social inferiority," and his plea for "a deepened-race consciousness" on the part of the negro he was bidding "ten million of his fellow Americans to keep ever in their minds the realization that they were but not of the ninety-seven million others."

As the MUSKOGEE CHRONICAL (Ind.) sees it, however, social separateness does not necessarily imply social inferiority and "does not need to involve social prejudice." "When we have civilized ourselves to the point where we can concede to the black man the same rights and privileges of social, political and commercial life as ourselves, while frankly recognizing that there is an impassable barrier when it comes to the mingling of our social activities, we shall be on a sound basis to which neither race has the right, nor the black can take justified exception."

Further, universal acceptance of the eternal difference "will advance the interests of the negroes themselves, the PORTLAND OREGONIAN (Ind. Rep.) believes, because with the barrier firmly established, the white race can proceed "to aid the economic independence of the blacks," and "as general intelligence and prosperity spread among them, they would be more apt to recognize the difference between the races" and "to develop the 'racial pride' which moves a race 'to develop its capacity to its highest degree, and to let the results show what it can do, but leads it to scorn imitations of another race as a practical confession of inferiority.'"

But translated into terms of practical application to the South, the NORTHAMPTON PILOT (Ind. Dem.) finds the President's program "a quite familiar formula"—"a Promised Land that 'has been shown to us by many a Moses of our own.' We have been admiring the view from Nebo for a long time now, and it does not help much to be told to admire it some more," for "in its practical aspect the problem begins where the President's program ends. So far as the equality is concerned, the HOUSTON POST (Dem.) declares that "the negro already has that in very large measure in the South. He is not interfered with in his efforts to work and acquire a competence," on the contrary, he has the aid and sympathy of the responsible white people."

The "Robber's Grave"

It is exactly a hundred years since John Newton Davies, a farm bailiff, was publicly hanged in the parish churchyard in Montgomery, England for highway robbery. With the rope around his neck Davies declared "that in proof of his innocence grass would not cover his grave for a century. His prophecy has been fulfilled, says the MANCHESTER GUARDIAN."

The grass on the neglected grave there is still a barren, sterile strip in the form of a cross, though thick grass grows all around. Past and present sextons stoutly deny that anything has ever been done to keep the grass bare, and superstition holds that anyone trying to frustrate the prophecy meets an unnatural end.

"I am not a superstitious man," said the churchwarden in an interview, "but there is certainly something uncanny and unnatural about the grave. About fifteen years ago a commercial traveller hearing of the grave and its strange tale went there and carefully planted grass seed on it. Two weeks later he met with a sudden death."

Another man planted a rose tree on the head of the grave. The tree grew, but the man was seized with paralysis and never recovered. These may be merely coincidences, but that won't remove the local belief that there is something unnatural and uncanny about the grave."

Now that the century has expired, the town of Montgomery is willing to see if the grass will spread over the "robber's grave."

STUDENTS AND TOWN FOLKS URGE PEACE

Two Armistice Day Services are Held in Lawrence Memorial Chapel

"Comrades in peace, we welcome you here this morning. We have come here not to celebrate but to commemorate the memories of those who made the noble sacrifice for a cause which should never be forgotten. We have paused in our labors to pay tribute to all ex-service men, but more especially to those whose names appear upon the honor roll."

With these words, John W. Rice, president of the Lawrence Legion struck the keynote of the service which his organization conducted in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 9 o'clock to commemorate the sacrifice of the 11 Lawrence men who gave their lives. Rev. J. H. Tippet, whose son is among the dead Lawrence heroes was the speaker of the day. His speech was a plea that great public opinion would make it impossible for another war so that the young people of the land need never be sacrificed again in war.

More than 50 members of the Lawrence legion were on the platform during the service. Dr. W. E. McPheters was chaplain of the day. Gilbert Baunerman conducted the meeting and special music was furnished by Dean Carl Waterman and Prof. Frank Taber, Jr. of the Lawrence Conservatory.

Shortly after the Lawrence service, the union service of the churches took place in the chapel with the Rev. N. S. Menzner presiding. The Rev. H. A. Bernhardt gave a short address on Armistice day in which he said that this was the dawning of a better day and a great world peace since the world is sick and tired and weary of war, it wants peace, needs peace and will have peace, the sweet peace which is the gift of God. Rev. H. E. Peabody spoke on "Disarmament" in which he urged that every possible effort be put forth toward disarmament which is only the first step on a long journey to abolish war.

L. S. Smith of Madison, was an Appleton visitor Thursday.

H. George Hanson of Milwaukee, was in Appleton Thursday.

W. E. Thum of Fond du Lac was an Appleton business visitor Thursday.

William R. Watermann of Milwaukee, was an Appleton business visitor Thursday.

GIRLS! GROW THICK LONG, HEAVY HAIR WITH "DANDERINE"

Buy a 35-cent bottle of "Danderine." One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be, after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant. adv.

PAPER CO. MAN NOW REJOICES

"I was on the verge of giving up work on account of miserable health, whereas today I feel great," said Robert Holmes, well known employee of the Port Edwards Paper Co., Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Monday.

"After doctoring with several physicians without getting relief from my stomach and kidney trouble, I tried Kozak. Now I'm here to tell you that 3 bottles of Kozak did wonders for me. Before Kozak was recommended to me I had no appetite, couldn't sleep right and suffered from back and headaches. I'm so enthusiastic about Kozak that I can't praise it too highly." WOLF AND FOX ARE SHOT BY HUNTERS IN WOODS AT DALE

Record of Perhaps 25 Years is Broken When Animals Are Brought to Earth

Dale—Bigger game than has been killed here for perhaps 25 years was bagged by William Lapp and Edward Breyer, crack hunters, when they shot a wolf that had been prowling about the locality. A red fox also was killed by George Lapp.

The men were out with their guns and dogs Wednesday afternoon and while in the woods about a mile and a half east of the village noticed that the dogs had picked up the trail of some game. Curious to see what it might be the hunters followed, coming upon a wolf about the size of a shepherd dog. The animal was quickly dispatched, perhaps saving farmers in the locality from losses of sheep and other livestock.

Thursday morning George Lapp was hunting in the same tract of timber and bagged a red fox. Much excitement followed the news that a wolf had been found in the neighborhood.

Preparations are Made for Excitingly Strong Basketball Team

Kaukauna—"Open up basketball opportunities and coaching facilities to the basketball players of the future" was the slogan adopted at an enthusiastic meeting of the Fox club members Wednesday evening in the Fox club rooms on Second-st. A membership drive was inaugurated and five captains were chosen, the rest of the members being divided into teams under the captains. A prize will be given to the winning team at the end of the campaign.

Basketball will be pushed to the limit by the club. It was decided after a decision to have a team. This year the policy will be to open the practice nights and to any young man in the city in order to develop material for future years. The plan will practically make the quint a city team but it is expected that anyone who "makes" the team will become a member of the club although that is not compulsory. The auditorium has been engaged for several games as well as for frequent practice nights and the management is in the field for games. A committee of Edward Haas, Ves Berens and Edward Rennieke was appointed to handle the affairs of the team with Rennieke as chairman. "Cub" Buck and William Taylor, Jr., of Appleton, will be the coaches.

Memberships teams already have signed up a number of applicants. The club consists of about 40 members and it is expected the number will be raised to at least 75. The work will continue until December, 1 and the campaign will be wound up at the annual Fox club banquet which will be held in Kaukauna this year. Edward Haas, Ves Berens, Lester Brenzel, Harry Laudert and Edward McMorro are team captains. Another meeting will be held Saturday evening in the club rooms to make further plans for the campaign.

Two Teams in Tie
When the smoke of this week's bowling in the Catholic Order of Foresters Bowling league cleared away, the Speakers and the Rangers were tied for the first place with a record of 11 games won out of 15 played. The Rangers came into the tie by virtue of their victory of three straight games Wednesday night over the Sentinels who now occupy cellar position.

8 BADGERS PLAY LAST HOME GAME

Madison, Wis.—Eight members of the Wisconsin Varsity football squad will play their last home game here Saturday against Michigan and no matter what the condition of the field the fans are looking for one of the greatest exhibitions ever seen at Camp Randall.

Capt. Sundt, fullback; Gould, end and half; Brader, star tackle; Christensen, guard; and Bunge, center; all members of the regular team, and Woods, half; Nelson, end and Hans Gude, the giant Norwegian guard, will add to the home fans so far as their appearance on the gridiron is concerned.

Bruger and Bunge played the best games of their career against Minnesota in the homecoming game Oct. 29 and both are planning to "make a record" of the Michigan line on Saturday. The game is expected to attract the largest crowd that ever attended a football game in Madison outside of a homecoming contest.

Alumni from all over the state have engaged tickets and the seating capacity will be the same as in the Minnesota contest when nearly 28,000 witnessed the game.

GIVEN THREE YEARS FOR ROBBERY DEPOT

Waukesha.—Edward Richards, 19 years old, Hartland, was sentenced to three years at Waupun by Judge Newton Evans on Thursday on a charge of robbing the depot at Hartland.

Richards and Earl Thomas, also of Hartland, were arrested in October. Richards implicated Thomas, but the latter was released.

TRAINING SCHOOLS NOTES

Kaukauna—Miss Pencock and Miss Behrend spent last Thursday and Friday at the state teachers' meeting in Milwaukee. Mr. Hagman spent the last two days visiting country schools taught by graduates of last year's class.

"Good speech week" is being observed in the school this week. Each student is tagged with a small card upon which anyone noting an error in English is permitted to write the correction so it may not be made again. The halls and rooms are all placarded with good speech posters so that no one can help but catch the spirit of the week.

Miss August Schroeder of Seymour enrolled Monday.

The new quarter began Monday and new work is under way. Practice programs and individual programs are causing considerable conflict.

School begins ten minutes earlier this quarter so current events and music can be a part of the daily program. Current events and memory games will be given two mornings of the week.

A representative of the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis association of Milwaukee gave an interesting talk Monday morning on the need for regular medical attention. She also invited the students to take advantage of the free chest clinic being conducted in the city.

D. F. Geller of Chicago, formerly chief clerk in the Wisconsin and Northern railroad office, is spending the weekend with friends.

WOMEN LAUD FOCH FOR GIVING UP WINE

VETERANS RECALL FIRST PEACEFUL HOUR IN FRANCE

American Legion Celebrates Third Anniversary of Signing of Armistice

More than 200 veterans of the World War joined in a jollification banquet in Elk hall Thursday evening to commemorate that eventful morning three years ago when the roar of cannons ceased at 11 o'clock and word was passed from trench to trench that the struggle was over.

With the toasting, music, songs and cheering, one would have thought it was the original Armistice, so spirited was the occasion. A chicken dinner was served on long rows of tables by the "Women's auxiliary of Oney Johnson post, acted as toastmaster.

Charles Baker, commander of Oney Johnson post, asked as toastmaster and called on several men to tell their experiences when the announcement of the Armistice came. Lothar G. Graef told how his men had been in the front line from July to November, 1918 and had been ordered to retire to London St. George Nov. 9. He and a few men were sent behind a crude stove made of lard cans trying to keep warm on what was the coldest day they had experienced in France. There had been a lull about the armistice but the men doubted them. Just before 11 o'clock on Nov. 11 the firing began to die down and ceased entirely on the exact hour. The men then began to believe it true that the war was over, and were overjoyed when word came officially at 11 o'clock that night.

Waited for Hour

E. J. Pettigrew, who was captain of a supply train, related how his men were stationed on the Meuse river on Nov. 11. It was bitterly cold and the air foggy, deadening the sound of the guns. Word had sifted through that the armistice would be signed and when 11 o'clock neared the men stood with watches in their hands. The firing diminished and then stopped completely. Col. Williams said, "Boys, the war is over." The public part of it was, Mr. Pettigrew said, that two boys were hit by shell fire about 10:30 and he saw them brought in when the war had ended officially. Both died later. There was no celebration that night, but fires were built in camp for the first time.

Dr. W. J. Frawley told of the joy at the announcement, saying it was hard to believe at the time. He said he was happy to think that 12 men he took with him from Camp Douglas all came back alive and happy. Brief talks also were given by Charles A. Green and Prof. William E. McPheters.

New Legion Orchestra. Lively music was furnished all evening by the new American legion orchestra in its first public appearance. The numbers were encored.

29 ALIENS BECOME CITIZENS OF U. S.

Twenty-nine aliens were admitted to citizenship Thursday following hearings before Judge E. V. Werner of Outagamie co. circuit court and United States Examiner George N. Danielson.

Two hearings were continued to give the petitioners an opportunity to study the laws and the constitution. The petition of Albert Spiegler of Dale who died since filing his application was withdrawn.

Because one of his witnesses had not known him five years, the petition of Henry A. Schultz of Hortonville was dismissed and he must file a new petition. The next naturalization hearing will be held in June.

With pandemonium as one popular selection after another was given. Members of the orchestra are Harry J. Henderson, Raymond Peters, Walter J. Henderson, Henry Gleisner, Gilbert Burmeister, James Weyland, Edwin A. Boettcher, Henry Griesbach and Mr. Ford.

An excellent musical program was presented, with eagerly demanded encores, by a group of entertainers from Lawrence conservatory. George and Lawrence consorted. George and Meckelson, Miss Caroline Hess and Mrs. Eleanor Neil Berger rendered vocal solos. Miss Marion Hutchinson and Miss Alice Chambers gave several readings. A quartet consisting of Mr. Meckelson, Harry Willson, Clement Hackworthy and Harold McGilgan appeared several times. Max Schmidt acted as accompanist.

Members of the auxiliary received a 3-minute ovation for the feast they spread before the veterans. Chrysanthemums decorating the tables were sent to former soldiers who are in St. Elizabeth hospital.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL IS STARTED ARMISTICE DAY

care. Dozens of men would never have received compensation due them if it were not for the aid given by the Red Cross.

The Red Cross recalls an instance in which it was necessary to obtain affidavits from seven states in order to back up a veteran's claim. Often times it is necessary to secure sworn statements from a half dozen cities so that the government will have all the facts before it in order to arrive at a decision. It is noteworthy that action invariably is prompt when government officials receive all the information that is germane to the case. Service men, unaided, would find it almost impossible and at least most difficult to take care of all the necessary details themselves.

It is to carry on work of that kind, in addition to its peace time program of assistance to civilians in the county that the Red Cross is urging Outagamie county people to purchase memberships. The slogan is this year as a year ago.

"Every person in Outagamie county a member of the Red Cross."

Teamster's Life Saved

Which is Larger the Sun or a Cent?

"Why—the sun of course" you will say. But remember—you can hold the cent so close to your eye that you lose sight of the sun. Some baking powders can be bought for a few pennies less than Calumet—but don't hold these cents too close to your eyes—you will not be able to see the quality—the purity—the dependability of CALUMET BAKING POWDER. In other words, don't be deceived by a few pennies—the cheapest baking powder in price is often the most expensive. When you buy Calumet you know that it will produce pure, sweet, and wholesome bakings. You know that you use less because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength. Buy it—try it—be convinced. A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

ORGANIZATION OF CABBAGE GROWERS IS FAVORED HERE

Farmers Believe They Can Better Themselves by Working Together

T. E. Vaughan, plant disease expert of the college of agriculture, Madison, is coming to Appleton Sunday night so as to attend the meeting of all cabbage growers of the county here Monday at 1:30 in the afternoon in the city hall.

Mr. Vaughan is anxious to extend cooperation among the growers to prevent the annual losses of cabbage through plant diseases. He has spent considerable time in the county in the last two years studying conditions, treating seed and lending his help in other ways.

Organization of a county body of growers also will be taken up. It is believed by leading cabbage raisers and shippers that problems can be given attention through the organization in ways that are not possible now.

An organization of growers also can order seed in large lots from reputable jobbers who can guarantee its freedom from black leg or black rot. Seed treatment, also, is more easily obtainable when the farmers join and the members may get in touch with control measures more easily and overcome any troubles which might arise.

Leading cabbage producers decided to assemble all growers at a meeting for just this reason. Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank, who was asked to call the gathering, has sent invitations urging everyone interested in these problems to come to Appleton Monday. He may have overlooked some, he says, but wants every farmer to feel that his place is in the city hall. The meeting is to start promptly at 1:30 because of the volume of business to be transacted.

those who observe and correct their speech in the one week to keep it up all the year through.

The English classes of the high school have been observing Good English week by collecting all misused phrases and slang expressions heard in and around the class rooms and making corrections during class period. The freshman and sophomore classes have been making slogan posters to be used during the week to stress arguments for better English.

Miss Klumb of the English department of the high school cautioned the students to read nothing but the best books and to increase their vocabularies as much as possible.

LITTLE DELAY IN WORK ON OFFICE BUILDING

The first carload of terra cotta for the new office building of the Aid Association for Lutherans arrived Thursday and will be followed within the next few days by several others. Steam has been piped to the upper story of the building for melting snow and for other purposes. So far the workmen have been delayed only one day. The work of pouring concrete on the fifth and last floor will be commenced by the end of the week.

OCOONTO STRIVES TO RETAIN REV. WRIGHT

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church of Oconto has unanimously refused to accept the resignation of their pastor, the Rev. Ernest W. Wright, who recently accepted the pastorate of the Memorial Presbyterian church here, according to reports from Oconto.

The Rev. Mr. Wright had planned to leave Oconto, Dec. 5, but the congregation will use all its influence to have him remain there.

DOZEN FREIGHT CARS AND ENGINE LEAVE RAILS

More than a dozen freight cars and a heavy locomotive that was being taken to the Kaukauna shops for repairs were derailed on a sidetrack at Little Chute Wednesday afternoon and a wrecking crew from Fond du Lac was engaged nearly all day Thursday in getting them back on the track. Considerable damage was done to both the cars and the track. No cause was assigned for the accident.

STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE FOR OLD AGE IS POSSIBLE

New Product Makes Usual Infirmit of Old Age Things of the Past

Every man and woman would like to avoid the usual infirmities as they pass into old age. But until now it has been hardly possible without the help of the wonderful new medicine known as Garren's Tonic.

You have a right to be just as healthy, full of vitality and energy at seventy as you were at forty. And you can be now with the aid of Garren's Tonic.

This new product will offset the weakened condition in which disposition of earlier life leaves you. It will completely "overhaul" your worn out stomach, blood and nerves. Make them like new, and the result is you will be able to assimilate the iron and vitamins in that food into your blood. And the rich, red, healthy blood thus produced will build sound, healthy tissue, nourish weakened nerves and give you muscles strength.

The fact that hundreds of "old folks" are praising Garren's Tonic for the health, strength and endurance it gives them proves its value.

Garren's Tonic is sold in Appleton by the Schilz Bros. Co., in Kaukauna by E. A. Meyer, in Greenville by H. H. Schulze, in Dale by Abends Pharmacy, in Bear Creek by John W. Statler, in Seymour by S. G. McCord, and by the leading druggists in every city.

SENIORS WANT TO RAISE $1,000 AT SECOND AUCTION

Money Derived from Sales Nov. 23 to be Used to Help Needy Families

With a fund of $1,000 as their goal, seniors of Appleton high school this week began preparations for the second senior auction to raise money with which to fill Thanksgiving baskets for needy families. The auction will be held Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 23. Committees have been appointed to take charge of the work. One committee has started work soliciting articles to be sold. High school students and their friends will give candy, baked goods, wearing apparel and other saleable articles and merchants also will be asked to make donations. Everything will be offered to the highest bidder at the sale.

Rainbow Dance

Last year's auction, the first at the school, was a decided success. More than $500 was realized. Twenty-five Thanksgiving baskets were filled at a cost of $15 each and the remainder of the money was expended to provide medical aid, clothing and books for needy children. The money was spent under the direction of the Red Cross.

In order that there shall be no duplication in the work of aiding needy families, the high school people are getting in touch with relief organizations to obtain the names of persons who really are in need of help. The students believe they will be able to raise enough money to supply a Thanksgiving dinner to almost every family in Appleton that is in want.

NO PICRIC ACID FOR THIS COUNTY

No picric acid for blasting stumps will be available for farmers in Outagamie co., according to word received by Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank from John Swenohart of the college of agriculture, Madison, who has charge of land clearing activities.

Several farmers asked Mr. Nyhus to obtain a supply of the explosive but Mr. Swenohart says the entire allotment for Wisconsin already has been distributed, amounting to 636,009 pounds.

Each state was given a supply of picric acid salvaged from the war by the war department, the allotment depending on the amount of cutover lands the state had. Wisconsin got a liberal supply, but it was distributed on a basis of the amount of uncleared land in various counties. It is believed that northern counties got most of it. Very few tracts in this county are uncleared, and no explosive therefore was allotted definitely.

HUGE TARANTULA CAUGHT
HERE IN CAR OF FRUIT

R. G. Zuehlke, chief clerk at the Northwestern freight depot, captured a mammoth tarantula in a carload of fruit consigned to a local dealer. It was on the side of the car near the door and curled up the moment the cold air struck it. It was taken to the freight depot where it became active when placed near the stove. It was one of the largest specimens of its kind ever seen here and was always ready to fight.

J. M. Behrend of Chicago is in Appleton on business.

CUT THIS OUT
OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH, CATARRH, DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrh of the ears, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Eucalypti (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Eucalypti used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

3 Counties May Join In Cooperative Cattle Sale

Three Day Sale Will be Discussed at Meeting Here Next Week

Possibilities of a cooperative 3-day purebred Holstein sale next spring involving Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago counties will be discussed at the annual meeting of Outagamie County Holstein Breeders' association at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Nov. 17 in the council chamber of the city hall.

Members who saw the value of the first annual sale conducted last spring are desirous of having another in 1922, but want to learn the sentiment of others in the association. The sale therefore will be one of the big topics of discussion. Selection of a committee and the policy which will be followed in choosing sale animals to maintain the high reputation of the county will be considered.

The success of the Guernsey sale in which Outagamie and Waupaca counties held auctions within one day of

3,941 Will Pay
Income Taxes to City Treasurer

Appleton's 1921 income tax roll certified Wednesday to City Clerk E. L. Williams by County Clerk Herman J. Kamps shows that 3,941 Appleton people will pay income tax on incomes aggregating $4,145,770.30.

The amount of money collected as taxes on these incomes will be $69,521.12 which is double the amount paid in income tax here last year. Of this amount, about $45,000 will go to the city treasury, $12,800 will go to Outagamie co. and $5,000 will go to the state.

RELEASE GIRL FROM HER ONE ROOM JAIL

Martha Krueger Kept Locked Up Because She Would Stray Away from Home

Proceedings will be instituted by Judge John Bottensack to have Martha Krueger of 1153 Oneida st. removed to the state school for feeble-minded.

The judge's action comes as a result of an investigation which was started after complaint in regard to the woman's condition had been received by Chief of Police George T. Trim. The chief visited the Krueger home and found the girl locked in an upper room.

Judge Bottensack then appointed doctors to investigate the case. Upon their visit they found Miss Krueger had the freedom of the house and conditions seemed satisfactory. However, they reported that she was mentally unbalanced and epileptic.

In his story to the judge, the father said the girl had been in good health for many years. She finished common school when she was 15 and then worked at home. Later she would leave the house and stray away so that they found it necessary to keep her confined. She now is 33 years old.

SUGAR BEET PULP IS SHIPPED INTO COUNTY

Realizing the value of sugar beet pulp as food for cattle, farmers are busy putting in a supply while they have an opportunity and as a result the Green Bay Sugar Co. is kept busy shipping it. Four carloads were consigned to Appleton Thursday, two of which were unloaded on a sidetrack in the yards of the Ideal Lumber & Coal Co. The pulp was in charge of A. L. Wolfe, formerly principal of the fourth district school, who said his company had three other men engaged in similar work. The pulp is shipped all over the county and to adjoining counties where it is used in place of ensilage. The pulp is sold at $3 per ton at the factory to which freight and other expense items are added.

BISHOP HERE TO HEAR REPORT OF CHARITIES DRIVE

Green Bay Diocese Oversees scribes Allotment in $1-
000,000 Campaign

Catholic church and laymen of the Green Bay diocese met Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Keller for the purpose of closing final accounts of the United Catholic charities campaign.

Members of the diocesan executive committee made a full report of the campaign to the Rt. Rev. Paul P. Rohde, bishop of Green Bay and head of the diocese. Following dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Keller, the business meeting was held.

Shrubs and laymen present were the Rt. Rev. Paul P. Rohde, Very Rev. Msgr. P. J. Lochman of Kaukauna, the Rev. William Pell of Manitowish, the Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice of Appleton, John P. Hogan of Green Bay, Stephen D. Balliet and Gustave Keller.

The report showed that with a quota of $1,000,000 to raise, the diocese substantially oversubscribed its allotment by pledging $1,045,233.94. Appleton deanery led the entire 14 deaneries of the diocese by subscribing $175,444.50 on an allotment of $141,520.

Appleton deanery is composed of St. Joseph, St. Mary, and Sacred Heart parishes of Appleton; Holy Cross and St. Mary parishes of Kaukauna; Holy Angels parish of Darrow; Holy Name of Jesus parish of Kimberly; St. John parish of Little Chute; St. Edward parish of Nekeville and St. Nicholas parish of Freedom. Every parish of this deanery oversubscribed its quota. Green Bay

What Does Pasteurization Do to Milk?

The answer is: To the milk itself, practically nothing; to the dangerous germs contained in it, everything. Pasteurization renders harmless all disease-producing germs, yet it does not destroy the lactic germs which are most necessary for the easy and prompt digestion of milk. Every evidence that we have makes it clear that pasteurization does not deteriorate the milk in quality or lessen its food value. Dr. McCollum, one of the greatest authorities we have on the use of milk as a food, says: "Pasteurization seems in itself to have little influence at all on the food value of milk. The staleness is the greatest element of danger. Pasteurization is necessary as a safeguard against such diseases as typhoid, tuberculosis, scarlet fever and such organisms as cause epidemics of sore throat. Milk should not be kept in the home without efficient refrigeration, and should be consumed before it becomes stale. Stale milk is dangerous, especially for use in infant feeding."

Pasteurization may simply be said to bring milk back again to the point of the purity it had when it left the udder of the cow, so far as freedom from dangerous germ life is concerned; and, if refrigerated and kept cold to the time of using, it is as safe as when it left the udder of the cow. Pasteurization makes no change in its inherent quality in any particular. Pasteurization simply kills—DEAD—any dangerous germs that may have been in the milk at the time of pasteurization.

WORK IS STARTED ON STANDARD CO. SAWMILL

The Standard Manufacturing Co. commenced work Friday on the foundation of its new saw mill which it expects to have ready for operation early in December. An order for the machinery was placed Thursday. The boiler house which has been increased to double its former size is inclosed and the new brick smoke stack which is being built by Greinke Bros. is up about 35 feet.

Diocese was the last in the state to begin the drive and the first to finish.

Aids Institutions
Money raised in the campaign will go to maintain the Catholic Provincial seminary at St. Francis, the charitable institutions of the diocese and for any other diocesan charities the bishop may determine.

Diocesan institutions which will receive financial aid from the campaign are St. Joseph orphans' home at Green Bay, McCormick Home for the aged at Green Bay, House of the Good Shepherd and St. Joseph Foundling Home.

Bishop Rohde expressed much elation at the success of the campaign. After hearing the report, several church matters were discussed. These had to do with combating present day evil influences on the young and on those influences which lead to domestic discord.

Farmer Offers Camping Site To Boy Scouts

In response to the appeal issued by Appleton boy scout headquarters for a winter camp site, William Jentz has offered the use of a tract of land located about a mile and a half north of the city.

Scout Executive Howard P. Buck will go over the land within the next day or two and decide whether it will be suitable for scout purposes.

A winter camp site is desired so that the boys may have some place to hike during the winter. It is planned to erect a log cabin and make it comfortable as a lodging place for overnight hikes. In this way scouts will have an opportunity to learn woodcraft which otherwise could not be taught and at the same time will have a taste of pioneering.

Musicians all over the country have been convinced that any piece of music can be played on the Gulbransen Player-Piano exactly as it would be played by hand by the most accomplished pianists.

Whether or not you are a musician—the "10-minute test" will convince you.

It will also convince you of this:

When you hear a player-piano that does not sound as if it were hand-played, it is not a Gulbransen, or it is a Gulbransen that the owner does not care to play well.

To get this thought firmly fixed in the minds of people—to acquaint them with this very latest development in player-pianos—is the purpose of "10-minute week" at our store. You and your friends are invited to make this test—today.

—and the price! So low only because of tremendous output. More Gulbransen Player-Pianos are sold than any other make. The price of each of the three models is branded in the back at the factory. the captive conscience of the world. In advancing toward his objective was somewhere a thought of a world awakened; and we are here to testify unflinching gratitude and reverence for that thought of a wider freedom.

Atone For Losses

On such an occasion as this, amid such a scene, our thoughts alternate between defenders living and defenders dead. A grateful republic will be worthy of them both. Our part is to atone for the losses of heroic dead by making a better republic for the living. Our are lofty resolutions today, as with tribute to the dead we consecrate ourselves to a better order for the living. With all my heart I wish we might say to the defenders who survive, to mothers who sorrow, to widows and children who mourn, that no such sacrifice shall be asked again.

It was my fortune recently to see a demonstration of modern war. It is no longer a conflict in chivalry, no more a test of militant manhood. It is only cruel, deliberate, scientific destruction. There was no contending enemy, only the theoretical defense of a hypothetical objective. But the attack was made with all the relentless methods of modern destruction. There was the rain of ruin from the aircraft, the thunder of artillery, followed by the unspeakable devastation wrought by bursting shells; there were mortars belching their bombs of desolation; machine guns concentrating their leaden storms; there was the infantry advancing, firing and falling like men with souls sacrificing for the decision. As this panorama of unutterable destruction visualized the horrors of modern conflict, there grew on me the sense of the failure of a civilization which can leave its problems to such cruel arbitrament. Surely no one in authority, with human attributes and a full appraisal of the patriotic loyalty of his countrymen, could ask the manhood of kingdom, empire, or republic to make such sacrifice until all reason had failed, until appeal to justice through understanding had been denied, until every effort of love and consideration for fellowmen had been exhausted, until freedom itself and inviolate honor had been brutally threatened.

I speak not as a pacifist fearing war, but as one who loves justice and peace. I speak as one who believes the highest function of government is to give its citizens the security of peace, the opportunity to achieve, and the pursuit of happiness. The loftiest tribute we can bestow today—the heroically earned tribute—fashioned in deliberate conviction, out of unclouded thought, neither shadowed by remorse nor made vain by fancies, is the commitment of this republic to an advancement never made before. If American achievement is a cherished pride at home, if our unselfishness among nations is all we wish it to be, and ours is a helpful example in the world, then let us give of our influence and strength, yea, of our aspirations and convictions, to put mankind on a little higher plane, exulting and exalting, with war's distressing and depressing tragedies, barred from the stage of righteous civilization.

There have been a thousand defenses justly and patriotically made; a thousand offenses which reason and righteousness ought to have stayed. Let us beseech all men to join us in seeking the rule under which reason and righteousness shall prevail.

Standing today on hallowed ground, conscious that all America has halted to share in the tribute of heart and mind and soul to this fellow American, and knowing that the world is noting this expression of the republic's mindfulness, it is fitting to say that his sacrifice, and that of the millions dead, shall not be in vain. There must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare.

As we return this poor clay of its mother soil, guarded by love and covered with the decorations that only nations can bestow, I can sense the prayers of our people, of all peoples, that this Armistice day shall mark the beginning of a new and lasting era of peace on earth, good will among men. Let me join in that prayer.

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed by thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

URGE TEETH FOR RAILROAD BOARD

Administration is Being Asked to Strengthen Power to Avert Strikes

Special to Post-Crescent

Washington—With the threat of a general railway strike safely out of the way, administration heads are seeking to draft a plan that will remove forever the possibility of a similar menace.

One thing is certain—the railway labor board has come to stay. Further, the administration is being advised to strengthen the board by adopting this program:

One—Co-ordinate the functions of the labor board and the interstate commerce commission.

Two—Give the board real power to enforce its decisions.

Three—Move the board's headquarters from Chicago to Washington.

Activities of the board and the interstate commerce commission should be urged, the administration's advisers say, because the first adjusts employees' wages and the second adjusts freight rates.

If the two agencies functioned as one, they say, they would be able to tell the public definitely that any cut in rail workers' wages immediately would be translated into lower freight rates. They couldn't do that during the recent dispute.

The administration hasn't made up its mind on what kind of "teeth" to give the board.

Administration leaders are moving warily to avoid arousing the distrust of organized labor.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is girding for battle if any attempt is made to foist "compulsory arbitration" on the labor unions.

Proves Duck Is Tame

Reigate, Eng.—Harold Swann thought he had shot a wild duck and told the magistrate so, when Brig. Gen. C. E. Goulburn had him arrested. But the general said the duck was tame because it answered to his whistle. Swann was fined $2.50.

GETTING away from the monotony of a straight meat diet is often desired, but not as often accomplished. Many people do not make use of the various spices and herbs which are used to flavor meat. These flavors will make better cuts of meat very palatable and also do away with the straight meat course. Real high grade meat may be cooked in so many different manners and kept so long that the use of it will not become distasteful.

LAWRENCE PREPARED TO RIP UP RIPON HERE SATURDAY

Expect Immense Crowd To See Greatest Grid Battle Here In Years

Lawrence Team, on Paper, is Far Superior to Ripon Squad But Redmen Have Edge on Performance — Enthusiasm Running Wild.

Tomorrow is "the day."

Not since that memorable afternoon 20 years ago when Dr. Plantz romped up and down the sidelines whooping it up while Lawrence was ripping up Ripon for its first victory has there been so much enthusiasm over a game with the Redmen as there is now.

Wherever men congregate these days they are talking football and about the big battle on Saturday. If everybody who wants to go to the game can get off Lawrence field won't be half big enough for the crowd.

McChesney's big Blue and White squad, wound up its work Thursday afternoon with a light drill. Every man is in fine shape and there will be no abate if Ripon wins. The team is at least 50 per cent stronger than last year when it defeated practically the same Ripon team and the men are in better condition than they were before last year's big game.

Squad Rooms Together
The squad has been kept together all week so that every moment could be given to preparation. Keeping them together has kept them keyed up until they are groggy and ready to fight at the drop of the hat.

Efforts to learn if the Ripon players will wear numbers on their jerseys have been unavailing. In fact, Ripon thus far has declined to reply to the Lawrence request for names of the men who will play in the game. It is said feeling at Ripon is bitter against Lawrence so a desperate battle can be looked for.

Coach, McChesney, has announced that Barry and Bechtler will be started in the halfback positions, with Basing at fullback and Ziebell at quarterback. Basing has worked off several pounds of surplus flesh the last two weeks and is in much better condition than at any time in the season.

Stark Against Schneider
Stark is sure to be started at one end, probably opposite Schneider, the big Ripon end. He is at least the equal of the Ripon star and many fans believe he will outplay him. Holmes or Norrington, probably will be started on the other end, with Doering held in reserve so he can be sent in when there is a chance to drop kick.

Captain Bill Smith has recovered from his injuries sufficiently to get in the game. Smith was out of the Oshkosh and Beloit battles. The return of Smith means that Hunting will be shifted to one guard with Ketchum on the other side. McGlynn and Kiesling, with several men in reserve, are picked for the tackle positions. It is generally conceded that man for man, the Lawrence line is far superior to the Ripon wall. Schneider is the only Riponite who can be considered a star and he will have his hands full when he meets Stark. The Lawrence line is a much better defensive player and fully as clever in catching passes. Smith far outranks the Ripon center and McGlynn and Hunting stand head and shoulders above their opponents.

Gustin is Real Star
Lawrence probably hasn't as dazzling a star as Gustin, the Ripon quarterback. Gustin can run, throw the ball and kick it and is a mighty slippery customer. He is without doubt the most dangerous man on the enemy team. The rest of the backfield doesn't compare with the Lawrence backs.

On paper, Lawrence has much the better team but Ripon looks the more formidable on performance. It defeated Oshkosh normal, which whipped Lawrence, ran away from Carroll, whipped Northwestern and held Marquette to a scoreless tie. Lawrence got off to a glow start but showed a lot of power in its game with Beloit. The Northwestern fracas was a real walkaway in which the men held back, using only a few simple plays. Those who hold the defeat at the hands of Oshkosh against Lawrence should remember that Little Oberlin defeated Ohio State this season and that Ohio later walloped Michigan and Chicago and has clear sailing for the conference championship.

BUFF AND SHARKEY IN FURIOUS 15-ROUND BOUT

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Johnny Buff, flyweight and bantamweight champion, was a sore and battered fighter today. But Jack Sharkey, who carried him along for 15 furious rounds at Madison Square garden last night, was even more of a casualty. The Jerseyite took nine rounds, Sharkey four and two were even.

GIRLS TEAM PLAYS ITS FIRST GAME AT CHILTON

A basket ball team of the women's club will play its first game of the season at Chilton Friday evening. The lineup will be Margaret Peters, Isabel Milhaupt, forward; Barbara Peters, center; Irene Heiss and Rose Beelen, guards; Margaret DeYoung and Gladys Kramhold, substitute center and substitute forward.

Albert Roersch, state supervisor of apprenticeship was at the Appleton vocational school, Wednesday afternoon interview students who are taking courses in apprenticeship and shop work.

M'Chesney Is Tenth Lawrence Coach

Here is the trio that has been working and planning for the last six weeks for the big set to between Lawrence and Ripon colleges on Lawrence field Saturday afternoon. These three men—the coaching squad of Lawrence—have wound up their labors and are now depending on the 18 or 20 youths who have been drilled and taught and drilled again for the big scrap.

The man in the center is H. D. McChesney, head coach. McChesney came to Lawrence last year and turned out a state champion team in his first season. He took a lot of green men, fine prospective footballers, but without any knowledge of the game, and shaped them into a squad which downed Ripon on its own field.

This year he is trying to repeat his last year's performance. Only one or two men were lost by graduation and he has a team which probably is 50 to 75 per cent stronger than the 1920 squad.

McChesney began his coaching work at the University of Idaho where he was gymnasium instructor from 1907 to 1909. In the latter year he went to the University of Wisconsin as gymnasium instructor and coach of the freshmen football team. He also coached the freshmen basketball squad. He remained at the Badger university until 1917 when he went to the Kansas State Normal school as director of athletics and coach of football, basketball and track teams, holding that position until he came to Lawrence last year.

All-American Tackle
Howard (Cub) Buck is the big man at the left in the picture. Buck is in charge of the linemen of the Lawrence squad and he has taught the big forwards how to charge and how to hold. Buck was captain of the University of Wisconsin team in 1915 and was selected as a tackle on the All-American team that year. His home was in Eau Claire. Before coming to Appleton as executive head of the Boy Scouts, Buck was employed by the Thimamy Pulp and Paper Co. at Kaukauna. Last year he played with the Canton Bulldogs a professional team, and this year is one of the mainstays of the Green Bay Packers.

The third man in the picture is W. F. Ashe, head of the employment department of the Thimamy company, who is coaching the freshmen squad and assisting the other coaches with the regulars. Ashe was a quarterback on the Mount Union college team in the late nineties and made a name for himself in eastern football circles.

Tenth Lawrence Coach
McChesney is the tenth of the line of coaches at Lawrence since football was started in 1893. Dr. Raycroft was the first football mentor, coming in 1894 and remaining a year or two. He was succeeded by Coach Brewer who left after a year and Francis Brigham took up the work. Brigham is the first man to put football on a real basis and he turned out several good teams. Edward Merrill was coach of the first squad which defeated Ripon in 1901. Allen followed Merrill but didn't have much luck and then "Doc" Koehler assumed the burden. Koehler knew how to teach the late nineties and made a name for himself in eastern football circles.

He was a University of Chicago graduate and used Stagg's system. Koehler later coached the Marquette university team. After Koehler came Graves who worked with the team only a year or two and then Catlin was given charge. Under the tutelage of the famous Chicago star Lawrence won four state championships in succession and gave the University of Wisconsin a few desperate fights. Catlin left at the start of the war and was succeeded by "Key" Boyer who coached one year, being followed by McChesney.

Today's Sport Angle

Is the nine-game world series too long?

Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, feels that it is. President Johnson of the American League takes a similar view. As a matter of fact, the American League head has always been a strong advocate of the seven-game series. He strongly opposed the change to nine games.

President Heydler of the National League is in favor of the nine-game series. He admits the clash between the two New York teams did drag, but feels that it was due to all the games being played in one city. Since such a happening is certain to be the exception, he does not believe the 1921 series a fair one on which to draw conclusions.

There is no denying that the New York series did get a bit tiresome. Possibly it was because all the games were played in the one city. The fact that the attendance fell off about ten thousand for the eighth game, made it seem that the public had more than its fill.

It has always seemed to me that a seven-game series was ideal. I have umpired in both the seven and nine game events, and know from experience that seven games instead of nine appealed much more strongly from the umpire point of view. I do know that the players much prefer the shorter series. The magnates who profit considerably from the extra games, no doubt look on the nine game affair with favor.

The world series should be short and snappy, yet long enough to give the contending teams a chance to show their real ability. Three in five games is too short, five in nine seems a trifle too long, while four in seven looks like the best bet. Judge Landis is certain to suggest that the series be shortened. The final decision, however, will be up to the magnates.

INTEREST CENTERS ON MADISON SCRAP

Badgers Battle Saturday to Keep Season's Record Unblemished

Chicago—Interest in western conference football tomorrow will center on the Wisconsin-Michigan game, the first meeting of the two since 1905. The Badgers still have a clean record for the year, which Michigan is determined to smear.

The other two undefeated western conference teams—Ohio State and Iowa—will also go into action Saturday, but they are expected to have easy games.

Ohio and Purdue will battle at Columbus. Purdue has shown some fight in recent games, holding Chicago and Iowa to small scores and defeating Northwestern. Indiana, the other Hoosier big ten squad, will journey to Iowa City to engage the Hawkeye eleven.

The Chicago University eleven will play Illinois at Urbana. Stagg's squad hasn't defeated Illinois since 1916 and Zuclopke is fighting to keep his slate clean.

FORMER GREEN BAY LAD LEADS HAMMOND

Green Bay—Charlie Mathys, one of the greatest football players ever developed in this city will lead the Hammond team against the Green Bay Packers in the American Professional Football league game which will be played Sunday afternoon at Hago meister park.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM AT OSHKOSH TODAY

Vincent's Squad in Good Condition for Biggest Game of Year.

The Appleton high school football squad left on the 10:27 train for Oshkosh where it met the Sacred city battlers Friday afternoon on the fair grounds gridiron. About 200 high school rooters accompanied the team. The team has been supplied with new football blankets.

Practically the whole regular lineup started in the Armistice game with the exception of Stark, right guard, who has been unable to put on a suit because of injuries received in the Appleton-Kaukauna game on Saturday, Nov. 6.

The following players made up the squad: John Roach, captain, quarter; Harold Brisse, halfback; J. Zussman, right end; William Tappert, fullback; Bob Bonini, center; C. Geros, tackle; Ed Havens, tackle; George Morris, tackle; Clarence Verstegen, left end; Arthur Purvis, guard; H. Zweschner, guard; Roger Ashman, end; Edward Jungo, guard.

Mathys is the only star on the Hammond team. Doc King, who manages the squad, has gathered together a collection of former players all of whom are famous on the chalk marked field.

All American Star
"Bingo" King, Hammond's fullback was chosen by Walter Camp for his All American team while at Harvard. Riley, tackle, captained Indiana last year. Depler was a star at Notre Dame; Knopp played with Illinois while Usher, Williams and Tomlin were all stars in their college days.

ROGERS' CONQUEROR TO MEET ZBYSZKO

What wrestling promoters in this country think of Jack Rogers, who wrestles George Hill here next Wednesday night, may be gathered from their decision to pit John Freberg, Rogers' conqueror, against Stanley Zbyszko for the world's wrestling championship. It was conceded that if Freberg could down Rogers he would be a strong aspirant for the big Pole's honors.

Rogers forced Freberg to work for nearly two hours before he could win the match, indicating that he is a regular wrestler. The big Canuck has improved wonderfully since last year and believes he is good enough now to even up his score with Hill who defeated him last winter.

The local grappler never worked harder in his life for a bout than he is working now. He is spending several hours on the road improving his endurance and his "wind" so that he will be in shape for a long fight. His workouts with Lawrence college men are keeping him in fine shape.

A good card of preliminary bouts is being arranged by Promoter Elmer Johnston.

SCOUT GRIDDERS IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The battle for championship on the gridiron in the boy scout intertroop league is to be fought out at Lawrence field at 10:30 Saturday morning.

The first and second teams of troop 2 are tied for first place in the league and both teams have won every game they have played.

John Zussman is captain of the first team and Craig Stillman of the second. There has been much rivalry between the two teams and the game was arranged as a result of a challenge issued by the second team.

Sport Views And News

The New York athletic commission has seen the folly of its way and, as a result, has lifted the ban against the headlock and toe holds in the wrestling game. The Gothamites under their old ruling had tied up the sport to such an extent that it wasn't much more than a "loving" match. The rules were so strict that many of the big fellows turned down all bouts in the Empire State. This probably was the main reason for changing the rule.

The government may take a hand in promoting better amateur athletics. Although Uncle Sam turned down an invitation to affiliate with the Olympic union, it was rumored that the war department has plans to launch a more extensive organization throughout the nation which will put athletics on a much firmer plane. A move in this direction would have the backing of every amateur sport lover in the country. Here's hoping there isn't too much "congressional red tape" attached to the proposal.

The Easterners are shouting the praises of Knute Rockne's eleven louder than ever. The double victory within four days has created a good deal of favorable comment and following close on the win of Chicago over Princeton, the sport scribes on the eastern papers are beginning to admit that when it comes to piskin chasing the westerners are about as good as any. We can't help but wonder how many western players are going to make Walter Camp's All American selections this season.

Coach Yost isn't as popular as he used to be at Michigan. Graduates of the Wolverine institution have launched a campaign to have him ousted as gridiron mentor at the Ann Arbor school. Yost hasn't been very successful of late in turning out winning eleven and the graduates are after his scalp hot and heavy.

YALE - PRINCETON BATTLE IS EAST'S BIG DRAWING CARD

Penn State and Navy Mix in Second Big Game in East Saturday

By Henry L. Farrell

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Grows of the Yale bulldog, snarl of the Princeton tiger, roars of the Nittany lion and helligerous blasts of the Navy goat will make tomorrow's football gatherings sound like a free-for-all in a menagerie.

Only two big battles are carded for the east in the semi-final number of the 1921 season. Both, however, should furnish ample thrills for the excitement craving public.

The annual fracas between the "Tiger and the Bulldog" at New Haven is usual will be the spectacle feature of the bill and it promises to be a real game. Yale is generally regarded as having the best team in years and Princeton proved great in winning last week from Harvard.

There has been a general tendency to over rate the Yale eleven however, and wise wagers are putting their money on Princeton.

The other banner number of the program, which should be one of the greatest exhibitions of the year, will be staged in Philadelphia between the navy and Penn State, both undefeated and two of the very best teams in the east. Navy possesses one of the greatest lines of forwards in the country as is shown by the fact that their goal line hasn't been crossed this year. Penn State isn't quite so strong on the defense but the Ezzel team has a wonderful running attack, the best seen in the east this year with the exception of Notre Dame. No one of note in the east has been brave enough to pick a winner.

ULSTER HAS NEW PEACE PROPOSAL

Will Suggest Settlement of Irish Question Without Infringing on Her Rights

London—Ulster will submit to the British government a counter proposal for settling the Irish question. This was officially announced Friday afternoon by members of the Ulster cabinet, in session here. In their communication, which declared the joint conference with British government representatives scheduled for Friday could serve no useful purpose unless certain proposals in the present compromise agreement were withdrawn, the Ulsterites stated they would reply to Premier Lloyd George in writing immediately. "Indicating practicable means for securing peace without infringing upon Ulster's rights." It was pointed out that certain fundamental principles in the premier's suggestion for a settlement based on a united Ireland and which Sinn Féin had already tentatively accepted, were "impossible of attainment under existing circumstances."

An Easy Way For Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

Strong, Straightforward Advice To Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women

If you are thin, scrawny and undeveloped, if your face is peaked and your cheeks and neck exhibit unsightly hollows, it's almost certain that your nervous system is at the bottom of the trouble. You can eat three, yes four, substantial, fat producing meals a day, but as long as your stomach has an insufficient supply of nerve force this food you eat, will pass out of the body with little if any benefit.

In order to assimilate properly the nourishing food you eat and convert it into healthy tissue and fat the nerves that control the process of digestion and assimilation must be put in first-class shape and until that is done you might just as well quit trying to put on flesh. Your system is starving for something that will turn the food you eat into healthy stay-the-flesh and it can only be done in one way—by correcting faulty nervous digestion.

Thin, nervous, run-down people, however, with impoverished blood and half starved looks are hauling with delight a quick and certain maker of solid flesh called EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES that is unequalled for repairing faulty digestion and correcting nervous digestive troubles. In fact, the makers of Evans' Triple Phosphates guarantee that one month's treatment will increase your weight by several pounds and within ten days make you feel like a new being, full of ambition, vigor and a desire to accomplish things. Leading druggists everywhere have agreed to supply Evans Triple Phosphates and guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money refunded.

Caution: While Evans' Triple Phosphates accomplishes wonders in nervous digestive troubles and as a general nerve tonic, it should not be taken by anyone who objects to a few additional pounds of solid stay-the-flesh.

2 PLEAD GUILTY IN BOOTLEG TRIALS

Defense of Members of Liquor Ring Weakened by Court Admissions

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Joseph Custer, former prohibition agent at Kenosha, knocked the props from under the defense of the alleged Milwaukee and Kenosha whiskey ring when he appeared in federal district court late Thursday and pleaded guilty to a conspiracy indictment. He was charged in the indictment with giving Bert Herzog, former prohibition officer at Milwaukee $6,000 in bribes.

Edward Kesterman, former Kenosha banker, charged with conspiracy in the same true bill, appeared with Custer and entered a plea of guilty to charges of conspiracy to bribe a public official.

Indications Friday are that both Custer and Kesterman will be important witnesses in the coming trials. It was indicated Friday that a plea of leniency would be asked for them.

Contest was deferred by the court until the other members of the alleged ring have been tried. Bonds of $10,000, which were provided when the men were first arrested, were continued by the court.

The men indicted with Custer and Kesterman are Walter Burke, former Kenosha attorney; Louis Schrayner, Charles Murray and Peter Gales, Kenosha saloonkeepers; Bert Herzog and Joseph Ray, former prohibition agents were also named in indictment charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

When the armistice was declared three years ago the crafters among the camp and cantonment builders made a last grab for spoils. It is these cases that the department of justice hopes to prosecute if the statute of limitations is extended. The profiteers before that date have escaped prosecution by the operation of the statute of limitations.
